

The Soundness of the LDP - Difficulty registering to comment by Dave Mackie April 2021

This submission has arisen because the on-line registration process within the LDP Consultation was changed in the last few days. Some consultees may have encountered difficulties earlier in the process and not submitted comments.

At the start of the LDP consultation I expressed my concerns about this via the LDP phone help line but my concerns were dismissed. At the end of the consultation period I had to contact the help line again and I repeated my concerns. I was called back and other ways for making comments were explained to me, but I was told there would be no changes to the on-line system. Later that day I was informed changes had been made. I submit that these changes should have been made when I originally expressed concerns.

A number of Hawarden Community Councillors recognised the same issues and the Community Council submitted a formal complaint to the County Council, which was rejected.
